FINDINGS, CONCLUSIONS, AND RECOMMENDATION OF THE UNITED STATES MAGISTRATE JUDGE

Pursuant to the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 636(b), and an Order of the Court in implementation thereof, subject cause has previously been referred to the United States Magistrate Judge. The findings, conclusions, and recommendation of the Magistrate Judge are as follows:

I. BACKGROUND

A. Nature of the Case

Petitioner, an inmate currently incarcerated in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice - Correctional Institutions Division (TDCJ-CID), filed this petition for habeas corpus relief pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254 to challenge a Dallas County conviction for disorderly conduct in F08-56050. Respondent is Nathaniel Quarterman, Director of TDCJ-CID.

B. State Procedural History

On July 31, 2008, petitioner was convicted of disorderly conduct in Cause No. F08-56050. (See Pet. Writ of Habeas Corpus (Pet.) at 1-2.) He has not appealed the conviction in state court or filed a state habeas application challenging it. (See id. at 1-3.) He has, however, filed a prior federal habeas application that was dismissed for lack of exhaustion on November 21, 2008. (See Pet at 3); King v. Quarterman, No. 3:08-CV-1854-N (N.D. Tex.). On December 12, 2008, the Court received the federal petition in this action.¹

II. EXHAUSTION

A petitioner must fully exhaust state remedies before seeking federal habeas relief. 28 U.S.C. § 2254(b). To exhaust in accordance with § 2254, a petitioner must fairly present the factual and legal basis of any claim to the highest available state court for review prior to raising it in federal court. See Deters v. Collins, 985 F.2d 789, 795 (5th Cir. 1993); Richardson v. Procnier, 762 F.2d 429, 432 (5th Cir. 1985); Carter v. Estelle, 677 F.2d 427, 443 (5th Cir. 1982). In Texas, a prisoner must present his claim to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in a petition for discretionary review or an application for writ of habeas corpus. See Bautista v. McCotter, 793 F.2d 109, 110 (5th Cir. 1986); Richardson, 762 F.2d at 432. To exhaust in accordance with § 2254, a petitioner must fairly present all claims to the state courts prior to raising them in federal court. Deters v. Collins, 985 F.2d 789, 795 (5th Cir. 1993).

In this case, petitioner has not fairly presented any claim to the Court of Criminal Appeals. He has not appealed his conviction in state court or filed any state application for writ of habeas corpus. The Court of Criminal Appeals has simply had no opportunity to review the claims raised in the instant federal petition.

A federal district court may raise the lack of exhaustion sua sponte. Shute v. State, 117 F.3d 233, 237 (5th Cir. 1997). It is well-settled that federal courts can dismiss without prejudice a federal petition for writ of habeas corpus that contains unexhausted grounds for relief. See Rose v. Lundy,

¹ Petitioner filed a separate civil rights action on the same day as this habeas action that contained a proper application to proceed in forma pauperis. See King v. Quarterman, No. 3:08-CV-2208-L (N.D. Tex.). Although petitioner failed to file an application to proceed in forma pauperis in this action, the Court takes judicial notice of the certificate of inmate trust account filed attached to the application in the civil rights action and finds that petitioner is eligible to proceed with this habeas action in forma pauperis.

455 U.S. 509, 510 (1982). As a matter of comity, the state courts must be given a fair opportunity to hear and consider the claims raised by an applicant before those claims are heard in federal court. Picard v. Connor, 404 U.S. 270, 275 (1971).

Because petitioner has not fairly presented any claim to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, that court has had no opportunity to review the claims raised in the instant federal petition. A ruling from the federal court at this juncture would preempt the state court from performing its proper function. See Rose, 455 U.S. at 518 (the exhaustion requirement is “designed to protect the state courts’ role in the enforcement of federal law and prevent the disruption of state judicial proceedings”). Petitioner is, therefore, not entitled to habeas corpus relief for failure to exhaust his state remedies. According to the instant federal petition, petitioner has made no effort to exhaust his state remedies since the filing of his prior federal habeas petition.

III. RECOMMENDATION

For the foregoing reasons, the undersigned Magistrate Judge hereby recommends that the instant habeas corpus petition be DISMISSED without prejudice for failure to exhaust state court remedies.

SIGNED this 15th day of December, 2008.
